TALLADEGA, ALA.

M. B. GRUENSTADT, EDITOR.

THURSDAY, Oct. 8, 1893.

Death of Justice Terry.

Mr. Justice Terry, one of the earliest settlers in this portion of Talladega county, having moved from Madison county and settled about three miles from this place, in the then Creek Nation about the year 1831. He has served as Sheriff of this County and is known to most of our citizens. Those who knew him best were his warmest friends. He was a true and honest man, open, frank, and manly in all his dealings. Warm hearted and generous, his open hand and ready tongue have kept him poor, while many possessed of less ability and industry have grown rich all around him. He was a man who during seasons of great scarcity would resort to all kinds of means to get high prices, to parties about him, and to sell small quantities to poor families at reduced prices. He has been a poor man all his life.

His kindly acts remembered. His family and the community in general have lived with him and all feel that a good man is gone from amongst us.

Jail Broken and six prisoners taken out!

On Monday night last at about 9 o'clock a party of armed men appeared at the County Jail, in this place, called the Jailor out and represented to him that they had a prisoner to commit to the Jail, giving the name of a man, that there had been some effort made to get out. They succeeded in getting the Jailor to unlock the door and immediately released him and held him fast until the parties called out the names of the prisoners they wanted, namely: M. D. Sanders, N. J. Sanders, Thomas P. Sanders, M. J. Sanders, C. W. Sanders, and N. T. Sanders. All were taken out of the Jail and represented as having been well armed and well mounted. They left with the prisoners and are supposed to have gone in the direction of St. Clair County.

The above is about the substance of the statement given by the Jailor.

We have received the first number of the "Alabama Reporter" published at Mobile. We find it a biography of the Hon. R. H. St. John, Mayor of Mobile, and the Guide and published in the "Alabama Reporter".

Our city was once a victim of a town, in a high toned gentleman and has many friends in this section that will read his biography with pleasure.

We were presented by our friend Geo. W. Childers, with a few of the largest apples we have seen this year. They are more of the same sort last, which you will find by calling at his establishment, at Alabama's old stand.

The Front.

MAINTENANCE, Wednesday 1 p. m. The reports of Foreman's trial, the report of the Federal of Bureau's command, at Cleveland, are confirmed. He not only repaid them with heavy loss, but he routed and killed the Federal. He was killed by a shot from the Federal. He was killed by a shot from the Federal. He was killed by a shot from the Federal.

A terrible accident occurred at Nashville on Wednesday by which about one hundred Rebel prisoners, more or less, were killed and killed. The prisoners were the number of three hundred made a rush to break the guard, when a temporary railway of the unfinished railroad known as the Nashville House, gave way, precipitating them from the fifth to the second story.

The death of Brig. Gen. Marsh P. Walker (who fell, as the Federal papers state, in a duel with Marmaduke) is discredited, and the story, originating with the New York Times, that he was killed by a shot from the Federal, is wholly false. Gen. Walker, at last accounts, was at Alexandria, and fortifying within six miles of Washington, D. C. He has 9,000 men.

The case of Mr. Ben. Thomas - It seems to be in the hands of the Federal and wheels are there, and the clock strikes according to their motion. A judicial heart is in the hands of the Federal and wheels are there, and the clock strikes according to their motion. A judicial heart is in the hands of the Federal and wheels are there, and the clock strikes according to their motion.
